About us

Private Island News (PIN), established in 2011, is a web site connecting readers to news about the private island world. It aims to accurately reflect the state of this global market, with informative news items and feature articles, covering a wide variety of issues affecting private islands. PIN is powered by Vladi Private Islands and five private island and property brokers.

The Topics We Cover

Private Island News reports on issues related to the private island market and its trends, islands for sale, the latest in island resorts and exclusive accommodation, island development, sustainable energy for islands, nature, the environment and islands, the impact of governmental policies on private islands and the new trend of conservancy groups and governments acquiring islands, celebrities on islands, and island life in general.

Breaking News – let the world know about your new product, service or island here.

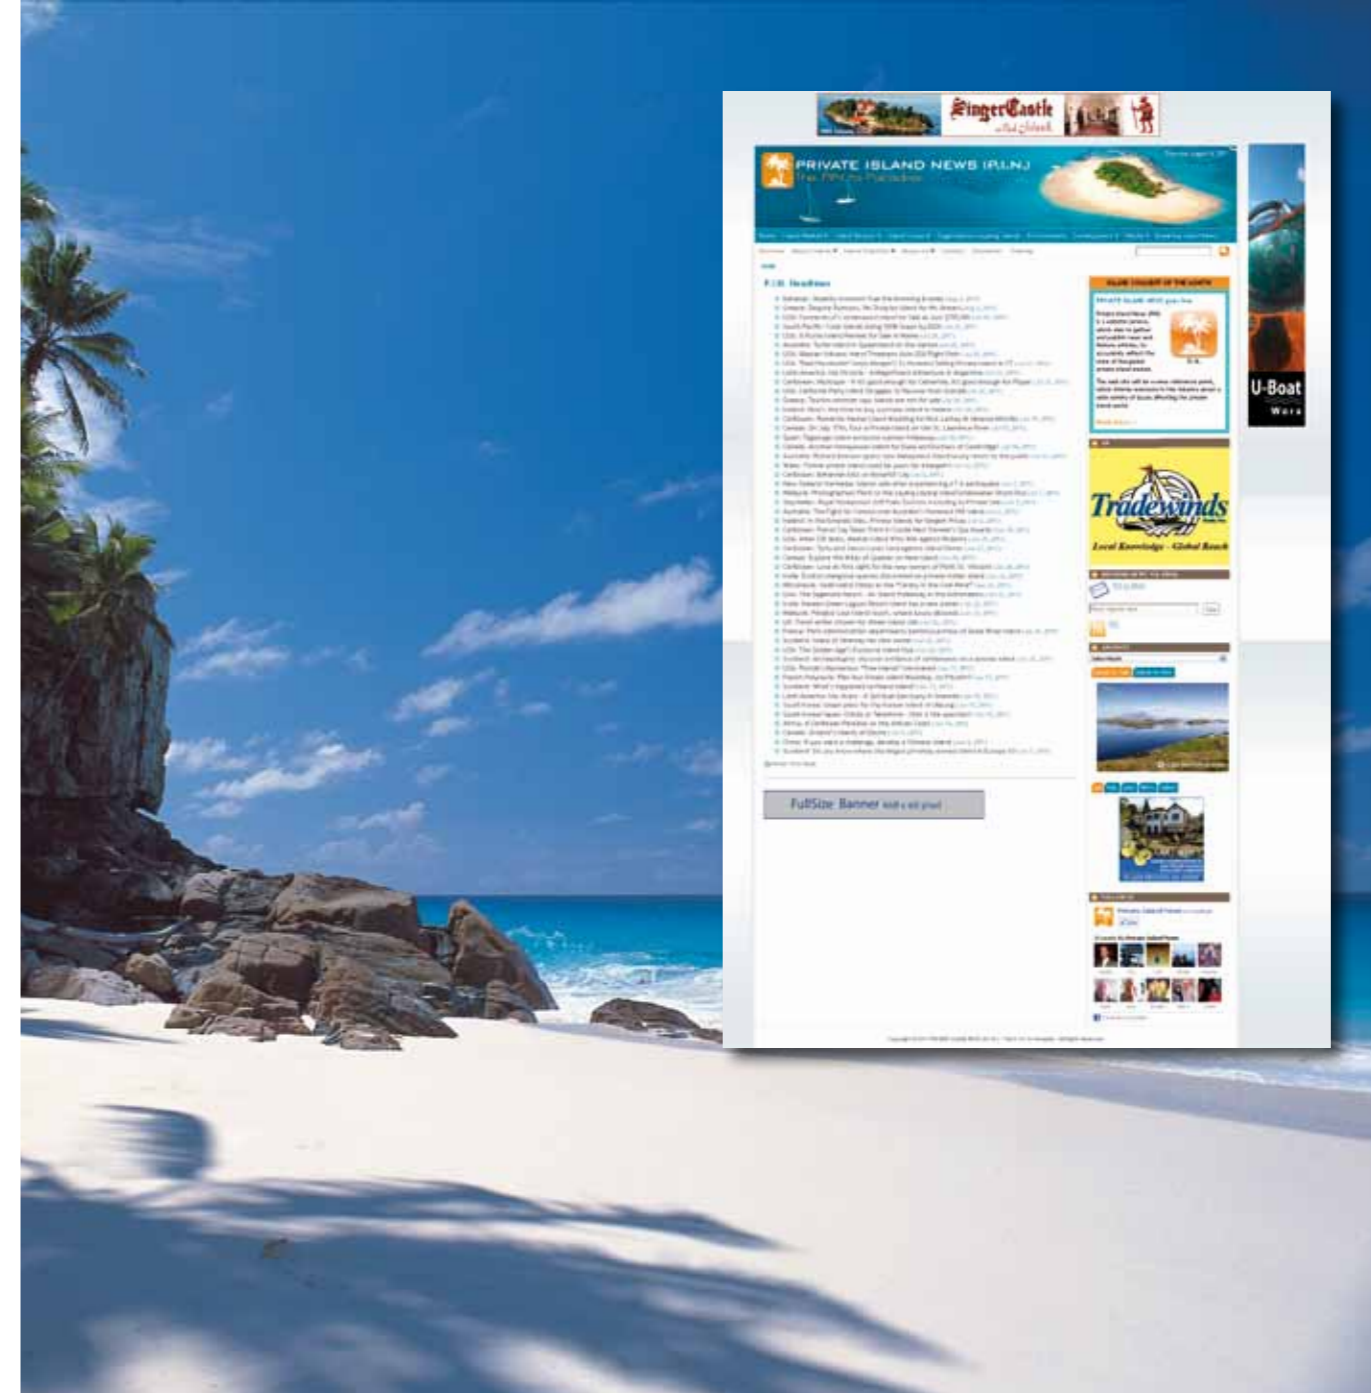

Island Development – do you develop water or power systems or build special homes for islands? Advertise under Island Development, where people needing your products, services and advice look first.

Island Resorts – if you have a luxury resort, hotel or own a private island and wish to rent your exclusive property, this is the place to advertise.

Island Market - if you want to sell or buy a private island, look no further than Island Market for your advertisement.

Our Readers

Our readership extends to anyone with an interest in private islands or islands in general. From island brokers, owners, resorts, hotels, caterers, exclusive spas, service and equipment providers, to couples and families staying on islands, island developers, investors and advertisers...the scope is broad.

Why advertise on Private Island News?

Are you an island broker, exclusive resort manager or an island owner wishing to rent out your island or its accommodation? Do you provide services, equipment or products for islands? Are you involved in island development? Do you deal in sustainable energy solutions, such as solar panels, or infrastructure systems, including water and electricity? Are you involved in the leisure industry providing equipment or machinery for water sports, fishing – luxury boat services, sports equipment or mini submersibles?

As one of the most informative web sites about the private island world, we expect to attract a very broad and completely international readership from all around the world, including service and product providers and service and product users from many island-related industries.

Advertising your service or product with us will be your calling card to the world. For rates and advertising offers see:
